FRENCH GUERRILLA TROOPS ADD TO THE PROBLEMS OF AXIS

Fight Italians in Haute Savoie Section; 6,000 at The Swiss Border

PLANES DROP ARMS

Nazi Nervousness Betrayed In Broadcast of Blaring Threat

By International News Service

Axis problems mounted in Europe today as French guerrilla troops fought Italians in the Haute Savoie section of France. Six thousand French patriots were reported in the guerrilla band which had entrenched itself in the mountainous area adjacent to the Swiss border.

Allied planes, recent reports declared, have dropped arms and ammunition and other supplies to the Loyal Frenchmen who have defied the Axis conquerors. Reports to the London Daily Express said the French had ignored an Italian ultimatum to surrender.

French mobile guards refused to join in the attack on their countrymen, the dispatch declared.

As tension grew within occupied Europe German nervousness was reported on the increase. Nazi military authorities were reported to have begun evacuating civilians from the coastal areas of France and Belgium and ordered their shore patrols on the alert against possible invasion attempts.

Further Nazi nervousness was betrayed in the blaring threat broadcast by the Paris radio that American and British prisoners would be executed unless Allied air forces ceased their devastating raids on industrial targets in the Reich and occupied Europe.

As open revolt grew on the western front Soviet armies smashed ahead and were believed closing in on Smolensk.

Plan To Lay Pipe Line Across River at New Hope

The Defense Plant Corporation has applied for a War Department permit to lay a submarine crude oil pipe line across Delaware River about 1.6 miles upstream from the highway bridge between New Hope and Lambertville.

The applicant's plans, which may be seen at 1400 Penn Mutual Building, Philadelphia, provide for a 20-inch pipe line to be buried not less than 3 feet below the river bed.

The decision as to whether or not a permit will be issued on the plans submitted rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work on navigation. Any criticism or protest regarding the plans from the standpoint of navigation should be submitted prior to March 17th.

Kaiser Expected To Take Control, Brewster Plants

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—(INS)—Henry J. Kaiser, West coast shipbuilding magnate, was expected today to present a proposal to directors of the Brewster Aeronautical Corp., to take over production of airplanes at the company's three plants.

The move, expected at a special meeting at one p. m., EWT, follows closely the statement by Sen. Harry S. Truman, chairman of a special Senate committee investigating war production, that Brewster "is a sad disappointment to the plane program."

"I had hoped," Truman said following a visit to the Newark plant of the corporation, "that some one would take it over who could make it operate."

Senator Truman (D), Mo., described the Newark plant as "seemingly to be doing a reasonably satisfactory job under the handicap of cramped quarters," but directed all his criticism at the corporation itself. Brewster also operates plants at Long Island City, N. Y., and Harbor, Pa.

The expected Kaiser proposal is another in a long series of events involving Brewster and its production of the Blaster dive-bomber and other fighter planes. The plan is said to have arisen from Navy Department dissatisfaction with production at the plants.

Last April 20th, the Navy unexpectedly took over control of the company's three plants but released it a month later without explaining its action. Later, C. A. Van Dusen, company president, accused employees of having staged a slowdown that cost the war effort 336,000 man-hours of production.

Announcement was made here on March 6th that Kaiser, the production king of the West Coast, had purchased the plants of Fleetwings, Inc., here.

The definite loss has not been determined, states the postmistress, Mrs. William H. Rufe, who lives near the building.

The robbers picked a night when a number of income tax returns at the post office were awaiting dispatch. What complications will be caused the victims is a matter of discussion.

Money, stamps and bonds were kept in the 500-pound safe; also personal belongings of rural mail carriers. Entrance was gained by using an iron bar to force open a rear window. Parcel post packages were not taken.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Lull In European Aerial Warfare

London—A comparative lull in the aerial warfare over Europe, presumably due to unfavorable weather conditions, had developed today. The Air Ministry announced that American-built Ventura bombers, escorted and covered by British Spitfires, had attacked an airfield at St. Brieuc in Brittany in daylight and again in the evening, while the new British Typhoon fighters raided enemy shipping off the Dutch coast and set afire an armed trawler.

Fighting Continues Between British and Japanese

New Delhi—Fighting continues to rage between British and Japanese forces of Ratchedang in western Burma, but up to last night there was no change in positions, the British India command announced today. An official communique said that most of the activity has been concentrated chiefly in the area between Thanaungara and Kyauktaw, where a series of fierce attacks and counter-attacks are taking place.

Proclaim Martial Law In Haute Savoie Region

London—Martial law was proclaimed in the Haute Savoie region of the French Alps near the Swiss border today following refusal of a huge French patriot guerrilla army to surrender despite an attack by 6,000 Italian regular troops.

The Algiers radio reported declaration of martial law and said that Frenchmen from all parts of the country are rushing to join the guerrilla army. Meanwhile signs multiplied that German military chiefs fear an Allied invasion of the European continent may be launched within the next few days. As tension mounted in the conquered countries, International News Service learned from a reliable source that all Nazi garrisons on the French and Belgian coasts have been put on the alert and all leaves have been cancelled.

Nazis Launch Powerful Attacks In Russia

Moscow—German troops have launched a series of powerful attacks along the middle course of the Donets River between Izum and Voroshilovgrad, battifront dispatches disclosed today.

TOTAL VICTORY

It may be assumed now that the Axis countries know that they are going to lose the war—unless the United Nations begin to quarrel among themselves. That is a real danger, one that must be guarded against every moment. Hitler is an expert at dividing and conquering. Barring such a catastrophe, victory will be achieved by the Allies, and the Axis is fully aware of it.

So are the peoples of the subject states. This is demonstrated in the widespread uprisings in France against the German attempt to conscript an army of 400,000 laborers for the Fuehrer's vineyard. Simultaneously, a wave of reckless anti-Nazi sabotage is sweeping Belgium. In a single night a locomotive workshop, an electric power station, a mine shaft, some railway installations and a German-occupied chateau were dynamited.

Resistance in Holland is growing bolder, while guerilla forces in Yugoslavia have been organized into a formidable army.

These are signs of impending victory, or at least of the faith in it. If the thesis is accepted that Hitler, Mussolini and perhaps even Tojo foresee their defeat, then it follows that they are fighting for the best possible settlement they can get. They will fight in the field as long as they can, for that will give them time to plump for a negotiated peace—and there are some willing ears in the countries that comprise the United Nations.

A plausible argument for a negotiated peace is advanced. It will save thousands of lives of Americans, Britons, and others. But if the Axis group is allowed to retain one shred of its authority and power, the foundation for the Third World War will have been laid and the sacrifice of another generation of youth will have been endorsed. This thing must be settled now, completely and for all time.

ETERNITY IS ONE TERM

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is right when she says that speculation about a fourth term for President Roosevelt is premature, because there is such a thing as starting a campaign too early. People tire of long campaigns.

But it cannot be conceded that Mrs. Roosevelt is right when she says that speculation about a fourth term for Mr. Roosevelt could possibly impede the war effort. She herself said in explaining the third term situation that "people felt Mr. Roosevelt was better fitted than anyone else because of the uncertainty of the world at war." It is difficult to see how speculation over whether a man so highly thought of will remain in the White House for an additional four years could hurt the war effort.

In discouraging talk about a fourth term, Mrs. Roosevelt said that "nobody knows what will happen in the next two years," a phrase that contains at least a slight implication that reading the future was a pretty well established custom in years gone by.

And then Mrs. Roosevelt added this melancholy note: "We may all be dead by then." It is certainly to be hoped not. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt have the wishes of Americans for many, many more years of happiness on this earth and all the joys of Heaven, but there is a slight inclination to believe that Mr. Roosevelt does not relish the idea of a happy eternity being confined to one term.

Quilted fabrics for spring outdoor sports and gardening will be popular too. Quilted crepe prints for two-piece dresses, and spun-rayon gabardines quilted for linings to toppers of coarse wools and neutral wools will also find favor.

Joan Leslie, young Warner Bros. actress, tops a pleated calico skirt, printed with gaily colored animals against a black background, with a fitted, quilted jacket of the same material. It is collarless with a high, round

"THEY SELL SAILORS ELEPHANTS" by FREDERICK HAZLITT BRENNAN

CHAPTER TWENTY
Then Seaman Linn read the newspaper story:

Lina Dunn Still
Center of "Mystery Twin"

By JACK JACK

Bert Sedgwick, better known among his host of friends on the turf as "Show Money," denied this morning a rumor that he had purchased The Shamrock, whose sensational race yesterday has the whole town talking.

"I said I was through with racing and that still goes," Sedgwick told the writer. "So far as I know, The Shamrock still is owned by Mr. Linn and Mr. Dunnevan. They have had numerous offers for the horse but have refused to sell."

It is reported that The Shamrock will be entered for the Handicap, if his next race in better company convinces Del Mar authorities that he has the class.

Erin Go Bragh, the "missing twin" brother, is still missing as we go to press. Joe Zileh, the old horse player, says he saw Erin Go Bragh in a row-bow off Point Lema.

"Blah! Wise guy!"

"Verse! Them newspaper guys oughta get a punch in the nose."

Georgine rapped her knuckles on the tray.

"Talk yourself outta this one!" she said. "I'm waiting with respect-ful attention."

Seaman Linn blinked innocently. "It's just like he says, Georgie. We had everything set to sell him Erin Go Bragh for $1 grand, but he got smart at the last minute and wouldn't buy."

"Verse! His girl friend wont let him—"

"Pipe down, Tim!"

"Aw-aw, what's that about his girl friend?"

Benny looked coldly at Georgine.

"Go get me a club sandwich and a stein of beer," he said.

Fireman Dunnevan scowled at Millicent.

"Make it two. An' step on it—I'm awful hungry."

Georgine stood her ground.

"This ain't Germany an' you ain't Hitler—not till you grow a funny mustache, Benny!" she said. "We knew you guys when you was a couple of gobs. So now you go high-hatting when we ask a simple question. Okay—if that's how you want it."

Millicent tried to make peace.

"We wasn't butting in, Benny. Georgie just thinks that if Sedgwick wouldn't buy on account his girl friend said no, maybe this needs a woman's touch, see?"

"What give you the idea he's got a girl friend?"

"Tim said he—"

"Ner. I dint. I jest said—"

"Don't waste breath arguing with sailors, Millie. How'll you take the sandwiches—with arsenic or rat-poison?"

Seaman Linn produced two $50 bills. He dropped one on Georgine's tray and the other on Millicent's tray.

"A funny little man makes those things," he said. "But he hates meddlin' women. So if he hears you astin' any more questions he'll get sore an' quit making those things. See?"

"Gee . . . thanks, Benny!"

"Yeah . . . much gratitude," said Georgine.

Fireman Dunnevan chuckled.

"Sedgwick, he give Benny $1 hundred—what you punchin' me for, Benny?"

"I got an idea," said Georgine, "but I wouldn't discourage that funny little man!"

"Hips and brains!" Benny said, approvingly.

Hence, it was on a note of optimism and in an aura of success that Seaman Linn and Fireman Dunnevan reported for duty aboard the U.S.S. Trimble, their five-day liberty ended. They had pyramided Tim's original legacy into $5438.50 net and this money was now deposited to the credit of Benjamin Linn in a San Diego bank. They were still the nominal owners of The Shamrock and the actual owners of the Erin Go Bragh. They had the Linn-Dunn Stable at Del Mar, a trainer and a jockey under contract. They also had a mascot, El Perla, down on the Fernandez farm.

Even Chief Mullenah, his heart warmed by collection of a five-dollar bet on The Shamrock, greeted them cordially.

GRAND THEATRE
Washington in wartime is the set-RITZ THEATRE
There can be no disputing the factHow to Build Hotbed
Outside Basement Window

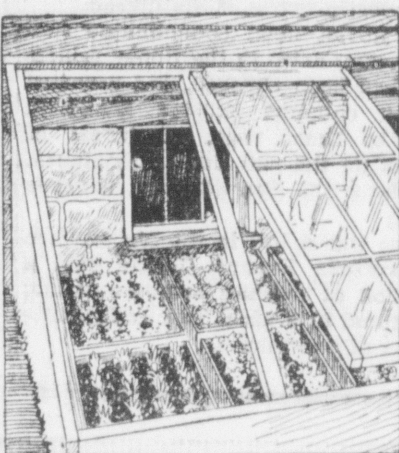

If you have a basement window with southern exposure, it is possible to build a practical hot-bed which is more easily watched, aired and watered than the standard type.

In front of the window make a shallow excavation, about a foot deep. The size must be figured carefully, so that a frame set in this excavation can be covered by window or hot-bed sash. As in the case of other hot-beds, a glass substitute may be used on the sash, if desired.

Build a frame to fit in the excavation. The sides must slant sharply from a point above the window, almost to the ground. Fit the sash on this frame, using hinges at the top so the sash may easily be raised for ventilation. Earth may be banked around the frame to keep out the cold; and the sides should be as tight as possible to keep out the wind.

The frame may have to be caulked where it joins the foundation to prevent drafts, otherwise it is built like the garden type, using a standard or odd size sash as you choose.

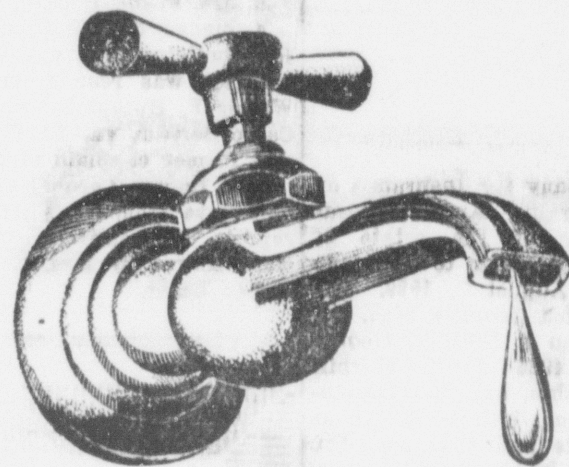

Heat is supplied to this bed by opening the basement window, and allowing the heated basement air to enter the bed. The window is left open at night, and may often be closed during the day, when the sun is shining on the bed. Hotbeds of this type have been tried and tested, and although they do not maintain temperatures as high as other kinds the heat will be more even, and the ventilation much better.

Hotbed Built Into Basement
Casement.

What to sow in a hot-bed? The tender vegetables that need a long season, such as tomatoes, peppers and eggplants, the hardier cabbage and cauliflower, a few cucumbers or summer squash in pots sunk into the earth so they may be transplanted readily, all may be started here.

Most of the annual flowers will benefit from an early start here if you do not plan to put them in the cold frame, otherwise use the hot-bed only for the tender or slow ones.

The main things to watch are temperature and drafts. Ventilation is necessary on warm days, and for very short periods on cooler days. Sow seed thinly and water bed moderately when planting; thin out when needed.

DRIPS... that cost you money

Are you dropping pennies down the drainpipe? Sounds foolish, doesn't it? Yet, it's just as foolish to let a dripping hot water faucet run up your fuel bill.

Keep your gas or electric water heater operating efficiently by observing these three economy rules: (1) Repair leaky faucets; (2) Don't let the water run while washing hands or dishes; (3) Don't use more hot water than is necessary at any time.

WINNING STREAK OF FARRUGGIO FIVE IS HALTED BY R. & H.

Chemical Co. Quintet Enters Final Playoffs of The Basketball League

SCORE ENDS 41 TO 39

Winners Break Through The Strong Defense of Farruggio's

The Rohm and Haas team entered the final playoffs of the Bristol Basketball League by shattering a nine-game winning streak of the Farruggio five last night on the Mutual Aid floor in one of the most thrilling games of the season. Final score was: Rohm and Haas, 41; Farruggio's, 39.

The chemical workers tabbed the victory by breaking through the expressmen's defense which all during the season had been difficult to penetrate. But last night, the Maple Beach outfit, determined to enter the playoffs, outpassed and outplayed their foes to eliminate the regular season champions.

The DeRisemen put up a gallant fight against the Rohm and Haas team and twice came from behind to dead-lock the score. At one stage of the game, the chemical workers were enjoying a 7-point lead and even until the end, the Farruggio boys were in the tilt and missed at least ten tries for field goals during a wild scrimmage underneath the basket.

Jesse Vanzant and "Pete" DeLuca formed the combination which threw in the deciding points against the Orange and Black. Twice DeLuca and Vanzant broke up tie scores to put the chemical workers ahead and in the waning moments of the game, "Mike" Carnvale scored a beautiful shot and this followed by a double-decker by DeLuca were the winning markers of the contest.

DeLuca had ten points in the game while Vanzant and Rue having eight and ten points, respectively. For the losers, Joe Potena hit the cords for six field goals and a foul for thirteen points while Accardi had nine.

Mignoni On Scoring Orgy; Diamond Wins

"Bill" Mignoni went on a scoring orgy last night on the Mutual Aid floor as he led the Diamond team to a 24-21 victory over the Fleetwings Arrows. Mignoni scored 16 points in the Diamond victory and was instrumental in giving the Mill streeters the right to meet the Rohm and Haas team in a three-game series which begins Thursday night.

Mignoni's points were all scored in two quarters, the first and last. In the second and third periods, he was blanked. In the first canto, Diamond had 15 points and 11 of these were credited to the high-scoring forward.

The Diamond team was in the lead from the start to finish and were always at least five points to the good. The usual Fleetwings offense was missing and only Devon Smith seemed to be in form as he scored 12 points. Fitzpatrick was shooting in tough luck as he was shutout from a score.

The winners scored 14 times from the field and registered six out of their twelve foul shots. The Arrows made eight double-deckers and five fouls with Smith getting four of their field goals and five of the fouls.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—(INS)—Again priorities become an inspiration and stimulant to smart fashions rather than a supposed let-down in styles. This time it is the handbag that is undergoing radical change, but for smarter and newer appearance. Dramatization of the drawstring bag, in particular, reflects the priorities on metal frames. And various fabric bags are becoming more popular daily, due to the scarcity of leather.

Neatest sports handbag we've seen of late is the one Nancy Coleman, to be seen next in "Edge of Darkness," is carrying. An over-the-shoulder model, it is a light tan felt with strap and edges trimmed with luggage-tan kid. The flat bottom is oval in shape, while the deep pouch is softly drawn to a center closing with a cord draw-string.
A vivid color combination is the keynote to the "good-neighbor" bag worn by Ida Lupino, star of Warner Bros. "The Hard Way." It is an underarm style, with the vari-colored stripes of twine gathered into a natural briar-pipe finished wood frame. The colors are Mexican-pink, green, yellow and black. A bright accessory to dark suits or montone sports ensembles, it is a favorite with Ida.
An unusual envelope bag is the one carried by Faye Emerson. It is of pink plastic thread woven in vertical ribs to resemble cording. It has a stunning lucite clasp in the form of a spray of wild roses. Faye particularly likes it with the pink accessories she wears with black or navy blue ensembles.

quarter's taxes. Some few paid the entire amount.
The four representatives of the internal revenue office had not only a busy day yesterday, the 15th of March, and final day for payment without penalty, but found Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week exceptionally busy days also. Throughout yesterday the upper corridor was filled with those waiting to file returns, and down the long stairway they were also in line.
At times on Saturday and yesterday the group in line waiting turns at the money order window filled the distance to the far end of the post office building. Two persons were kept busy most of both days making out money orders.
A number of persons filing returns at the local post office building have income tax to pay reaching as high as $1500 and $2000. High wages paid to war workers, many including overtime pay, were responsible for these amounts.
The penalty for those paying after the 15th, the effective date being today, is five per cent, plus interest. This penalty will increase five per cent each month until the penalty reaches 25 per cent.
From today on two representatives will be at the post office building most of the day-time hours to receive returns from late-comers.

ensk, the Nazi winter base 230 miles west of Moscow. Frontline dispatches said the Germans were falling back on Smolensk, setting fire to Russian villages in their wake in an effort to check the Red Army's advance.
Soviet forces driven from Kharkov fought desperately east and south of the city, and along the upper Donets front to halt the enemy offensive. An official communique announced that Russian forces had evacuated Kharkov after a "tense, fierce battle."

But the German victory at Kharkov may still end in disaster, military observers pointed out. If the Germans are unable to hold Smolensk, Orel and Bryansk, their armies in Kharkov and the Donets Basin may be enveloped and pinched off in a campaign similar to the costly battle of Stalingrad.
The Soviet noon communique said the German drive in the Upper Donets basin had been checked, and reported Russian columns surging ahead in the Lake Ilmen area, southwest of Vyazma on the rail line to Smolensk, and along the Sea of Azov towards Rostov.

There was a lull in the air warfare over western Europe, Berlin said a formation of German bombers struck at England in a night raid and admitted loss of two planes.

American made Ventura bombers, escorted by RAF Spitfires, raided the German airfield at St. Brieux in Brittany, and followed up with a night attack and British Typhoon fighters strafed enemy shipping off the Dutch coast.

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. MacArthur's bombers swept east and west of New Guinea in continued assaults on Japanese bases and enemy shipping. Another Japanese convoy was attacked approaching the Aru islands, between New Guinea and the Australian mainland. Direct hits were scored on two troopships.

This is where all the NEW Telephones are going!

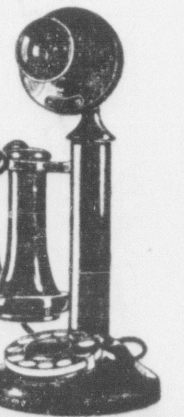

There is a serious shortage of telephones. Manufacture of new instruments, except special telephones for combat use, has been stopped—to conserve metals urgently needed for America's tanks, planes, ships and shells.

Fortunately, we still have a supply of desk stand telephones. They have been reconditioned and they will give good service. Because of the shortage of handsets, this type of instrument will be used on more and more new installations.

While we know that most people would rather have the more modern handset, we feel sure everyone will agree that the kind of equipment we put on the battle lines is more important than the kind we get here at home. And the factories that formerly made peace-time telephones are now working day and night to give our armed forces the finest war-communication equipment in the world!
